

Library system's site redesign

Information architecture

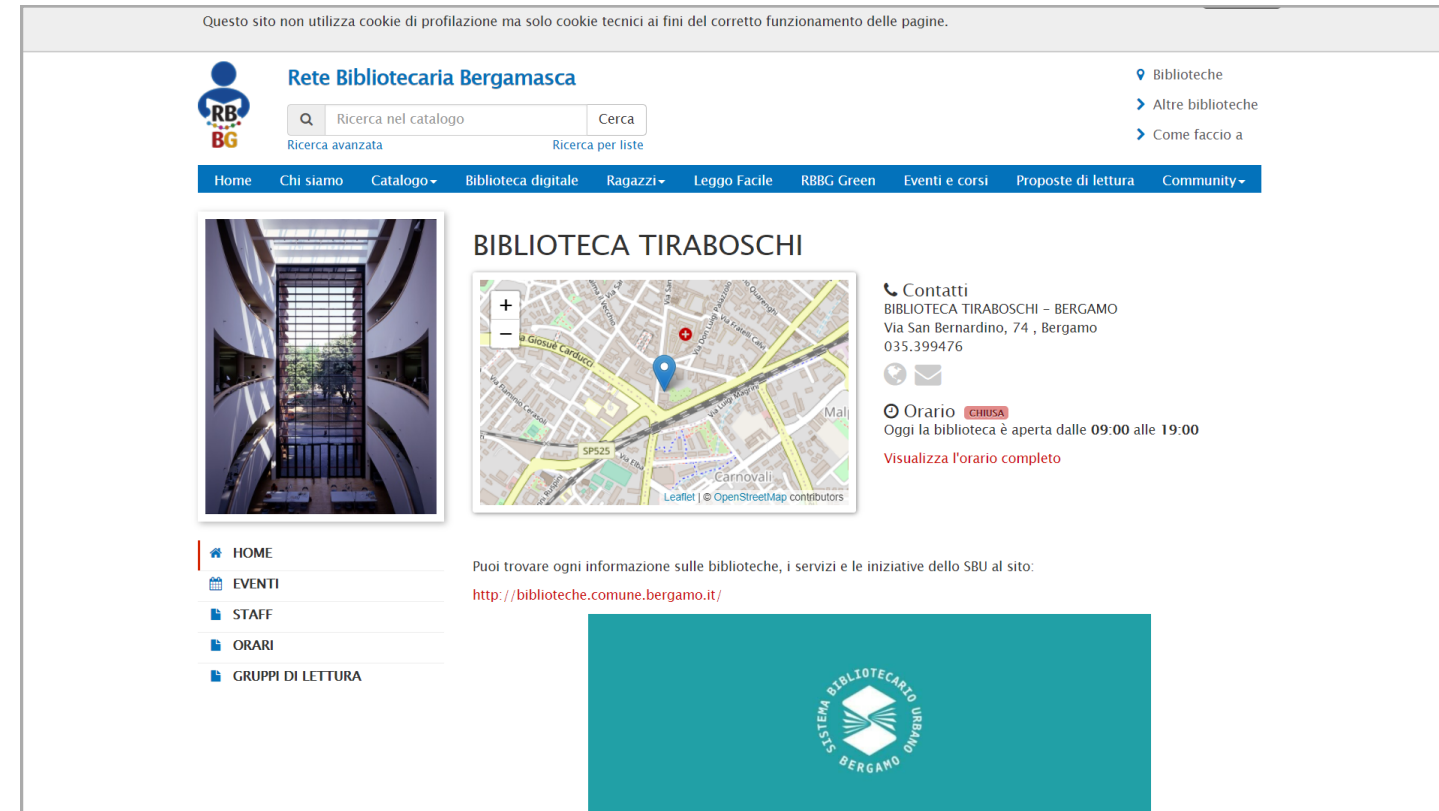

Redesign

User Interface

The project

This is a one-day project, starting from a conversation about the bad design of the site of Bergamo's librarian system.

The old site was ugly and disorganized, with no logic in the element's disposition.

Information architecture

We asked the librarian about the different services available, what they wanted to promote through the site and the different types of users who visited it.

I decide to make a simple menu with different subsections, to help users to reach every section.

Design choices

Palette and shapes are simple but effective.

Palette

Primary

Accent

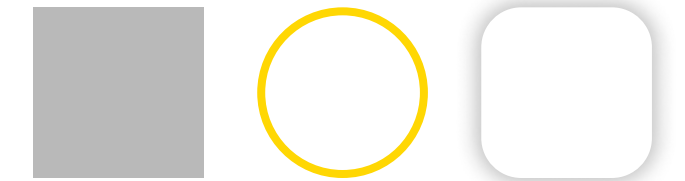

Text

Background

Buttons

Shapes

The colors of the palette are the colors of the municipality of Bergamo. The colored shapes are boxy and simple, while the forms and utilities are white and have rounded shadows and corners.

Mockup

I designed a mockup of the landing page based on the requirements collected through the interview with the librarian.

